ABNER RIERA,

*playing selections from Spanish &
South American classic composers*

About the Artist

Abner Riera began his career as a classical guitarist under the tutelage of Efrain Silva at the Conservatory of Music of Aragua, Venezuela, in 1984. By 1988 he was the President of the Guitar Association of the State of Aragua and coordinator of The Guitar Encounter of Aragua, and distinguished himself as the founder of the Classical Guitar curriculum in a youth program for the promotion of the arts.

Alirio Diaz, known internationally and considered to be at a level with Andres Segovia and John Williams, has said this of Abner: "As a young guitarist Abner Riera has distinguished himself by magnificent technique and interpretation in his presentations... I do not doubt that he will enrich the future with the personality of his artistry."
