With over three decades of inspiring young dancers in Southern California, beloved dance educator Miss April is taking her life-shaping lessons from the studio to the page with the official launch of Miss April's Dance Books, a new children's book series that uses dance, movement, and storytelling to teach confidence, kindness, perseverance, and self-expression.

Since 1990, Miss April has been a cornerstone of Murrieta Parks and Recreation, where her program Miss April's Dance has helped generations of children grow—not just as dancers, but as people. Her books extend that mission, offering stories that meet children where they are emotionally, socially, and creatively.
